JOHN STOSZKOWSKI

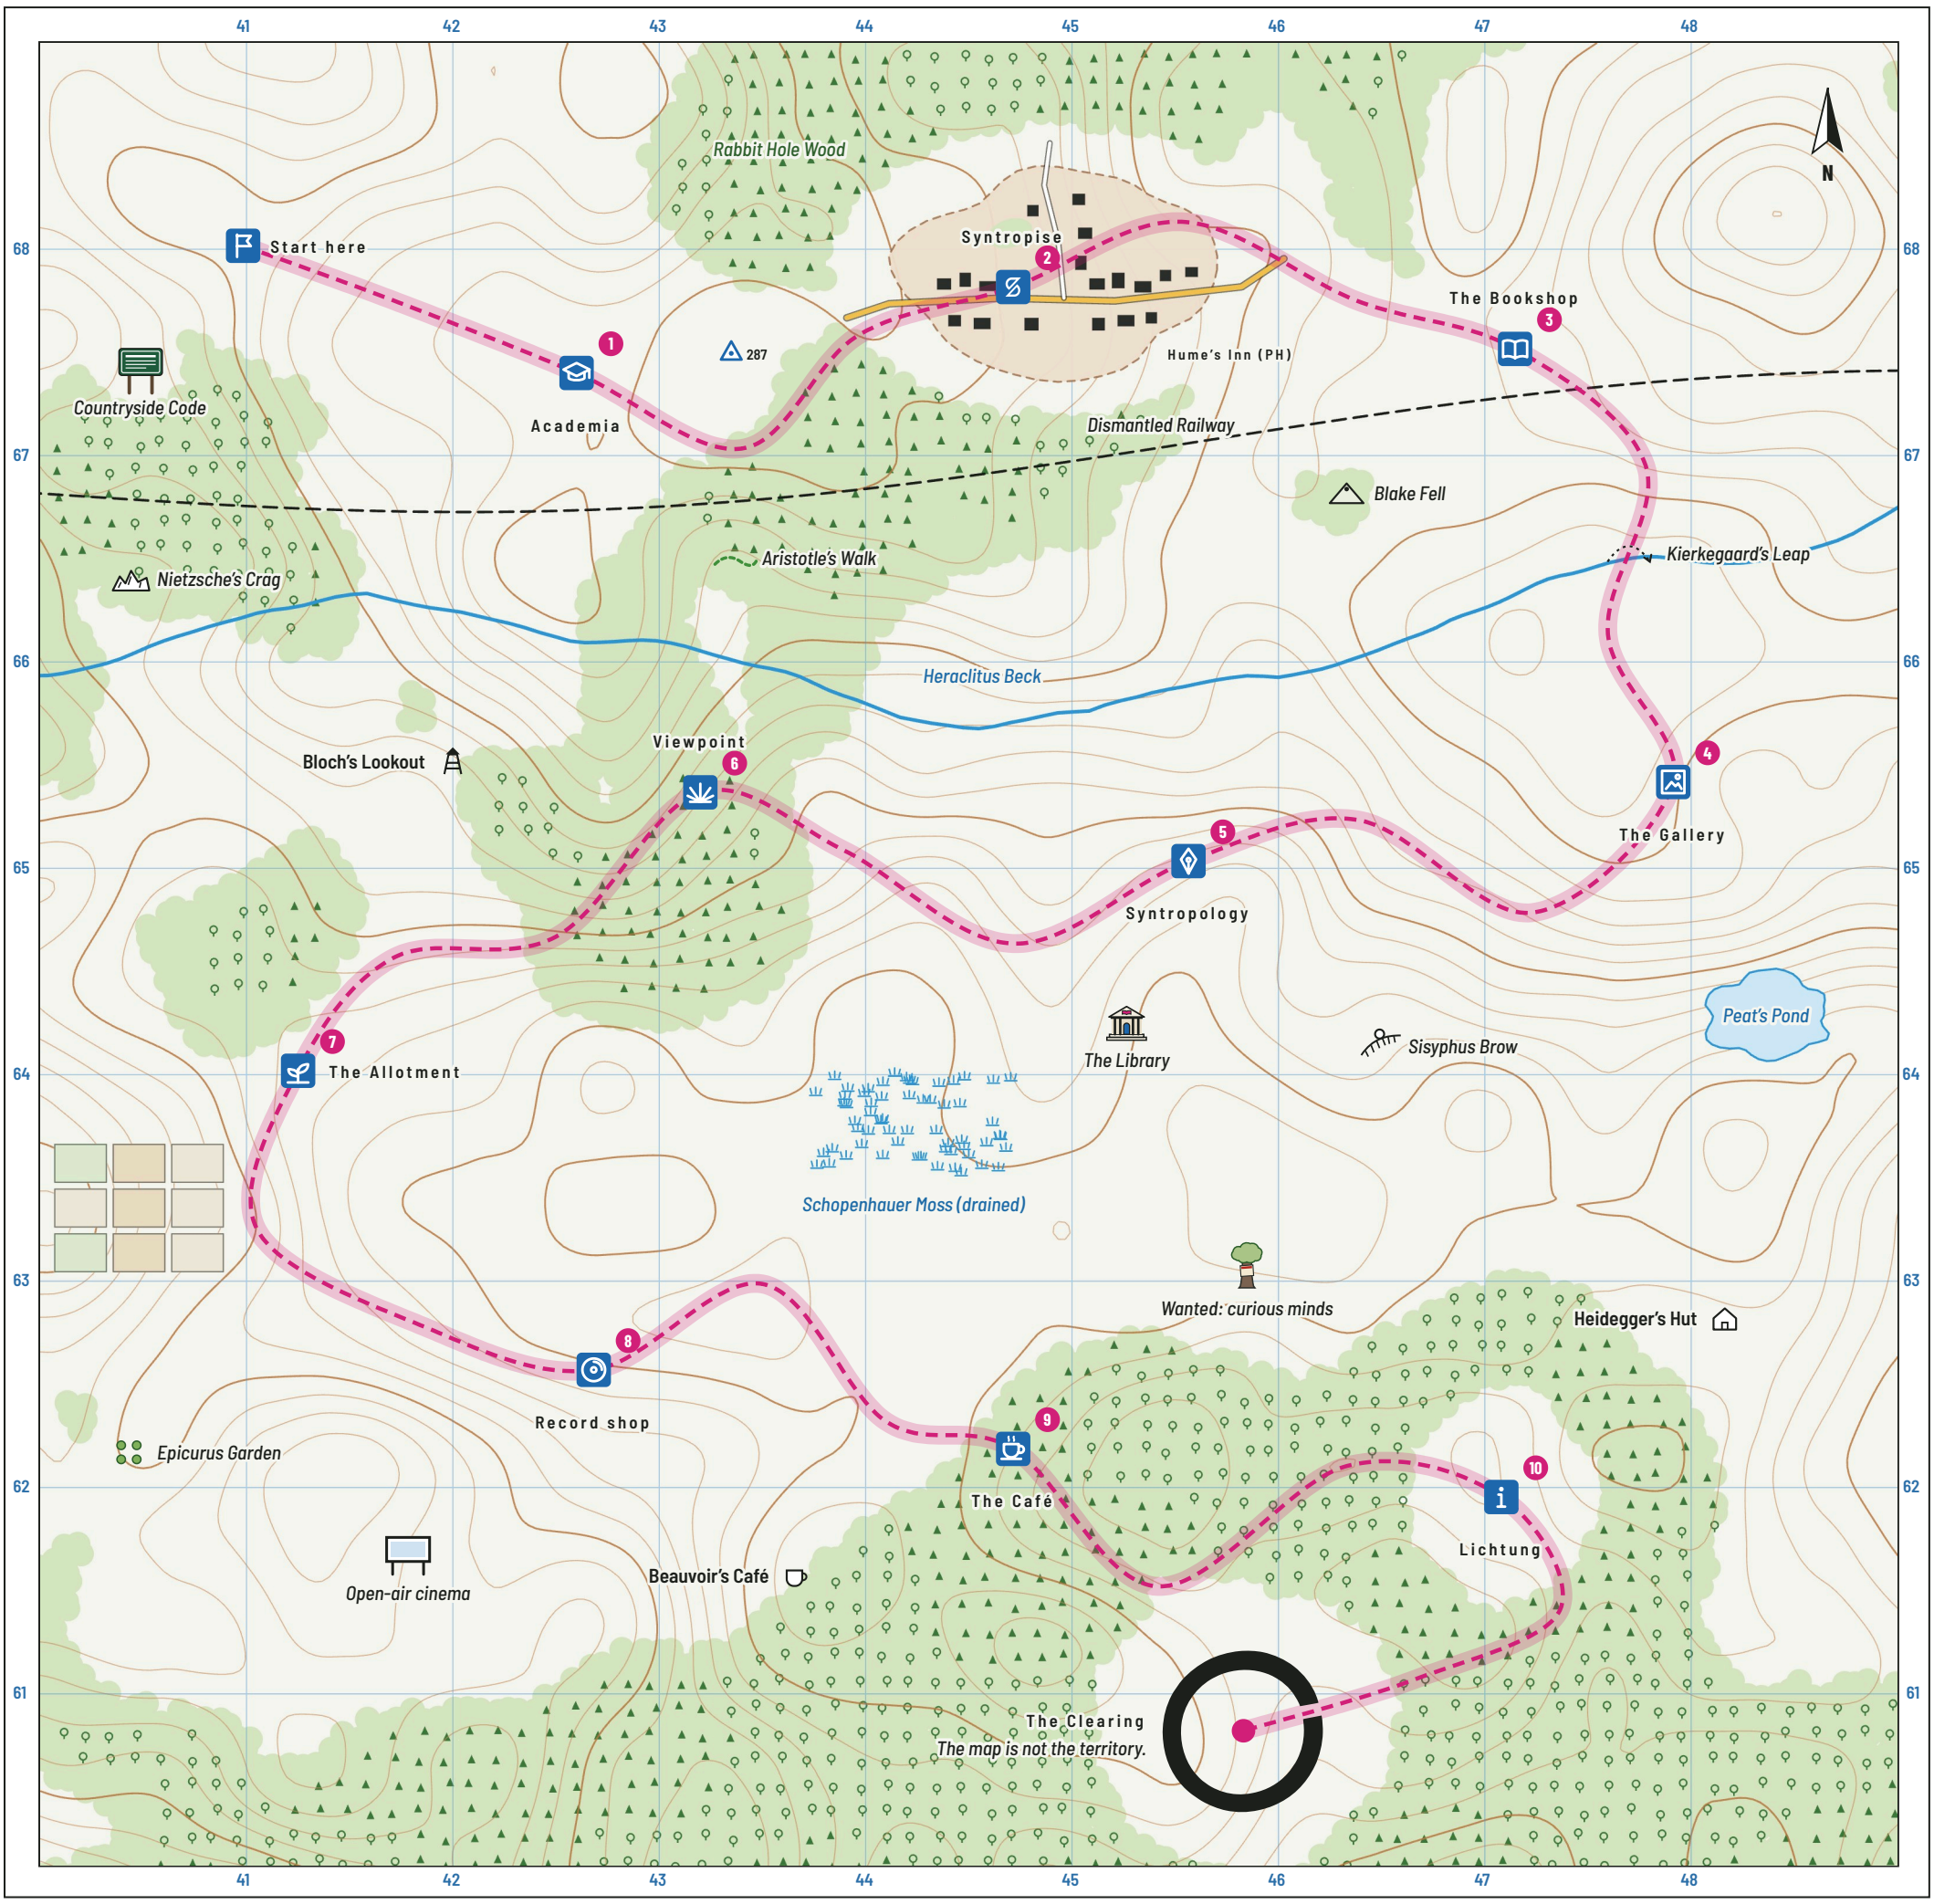

Private Philosophy

THE WALK 1:1 scale. One step to one step, no shortcuts.

Now includes A philosopher

SHEET 287

johnstoszkowski.com

PLACES ON THIS WALK

1. Academia Fifteen years on this line
2. Syntropise The practice I co-founded
3. The Bookshop Books for living
4. The Gallery The Syntropy Squad
5. Syntropology Where I write
6. Viewpoint Things I believe, so far
7. The Allotment My favourite place
8. Record shop Same thinking, different tempo
9. The Café Notes on the board
10. Lichtung A note on the clearing

The Clearing The map is not the territory

Also on this sheet: the Library, an open-air cinema, a flyer on a tree, the Countryside Code, and thinkers' places in italic. You'll find them all online too.

OTHER SYMBOLS

- The route
- Woodland
- Contours
- Water
- Dismantled railway
- Built-up area
- A stop on the walk
- A thinker's place (in italic)
- 44 Grid, for getting lost precisely

THE PHILOSOPHER'S

COUNTRYSIDE CODE

"Only thoughts reached by walking have value."
NIETZSCHE

RESPECT EVERYONE
Say hello and share the path, especially with people who see things differently. Leave gates open: ideas need to get through. Follow the signs, but keep asking where they lead.

PROTECT THE ENVIRONMENT
Take your litter home, and your certainties too. Don't start fires you can't put out, arguments included. Keep dogs under effective control. Dudley's working on it.

ENJOY THE OUTDOORS
Check your route, then be ready to leave it. Expect to get a bit lost: it's usually where the interesting part starts. Bring home a question instead of a souvenir.

THANK YOU FOR WALKING THOUGHTFULLY

WALK IT ONLINE

johnstoszkowski.com

The same walk, with the photographs, the paintings, the mixes and the notes on the board. Dudley comes too.
Have a philosopher in your life. The first conversation is free.

Surveyed on foot by John Stoszkowski, with Dudley. Not to scale. Reality is always richer than our descriptions of it. © John Stoszkowski 2026.